While you're checking out Bay Area holiday lights, make a stop for this sound-and-light installation at the Keys That Fit storefront gallery in Oakland. Artist Joshua Churchill uses sounds loosely based on the history of the site, a former key-making business. The installation also senses when viewers come near, and its sounds and lights react. Open till 10 p.m. Until Jan. 27. 2312 Telegraph Ave., Oakland. (415) 425-5216. www.xaul.com/KEYS/home.html.
